The Austrian Builder-Owner Award 2011

From 28 February to 16 March 2012

Subject: The Austrian Builder-Owner Award is one of Austria's most prestigious architectural awards. First presented in 1967, it pays tribute to architects and their clients by recognising outstanding projects that set new standards in architectural design. As builder-owner, architecture is a subject that the Vienna Insurance Group and its Austrian and Central and Eastern European Group companies can identify with closely. Over the past few decades the Group has joined forces with several high-profile architects to create a string of out-of-the-ordinary buildings, such as Vienna's Ringturm. Vienna Insurance Group's latest exhibition in the "Architektur im Ringturm" series puts the spotlight on the projects that secured the 2011 Austrian Builder-Owner Award in recognition of their functionality, design and value to society as well as on those projects that has been nominated in a first step by the regional selection committees.
